Problems

- When we go on a trip with our group of friends, one of us is pays for a cab while others for lunch.
- As the result, we lose the track of money that which of our friends paid how much.
- So when the trip ends, we all sit down for a tiring session where we try to recall who paid how much and then calculate and divide it among our group.

How Travx solve your issues :)

- When Travx comes into the play there is no need to worry.
- As it's easy to use just add the information who paid how much which takes only a few seconds.
- Now after your trip ends Travx tells you who is supposed to pay how much and to whom.
